Students Send Thanks to Troops Overseas

By Jean Perry

In the spirit of the Thanksgiving season, one first grade classroom at Center School in Mattapoisett was busy working together November 23 making cards and care packages to show their gratitude for the troops serving overseas.

The class of 16 students sat in groups along desks loaded with paper, markers, crayons, and shiny star stickers, carefully drawing images of American flags, hearts, and smiling people, and addressing them all to a soldier with ties to the community, Sergeant Kasey Koch, who is currently serving in Afghanistan.

Gail Shovlin's daughter, Sophie Bozzo, is a student in Jennifer Aarsheim's first grade class. For Veteran's Day, Shovlin encouraged her daughter to make a card for a family member who served in Vietnam as a way to thank him for his service.

"And it brought a tear to his eye," said Shovlin. "And I said, 'we could do a lot more of that.'"

Thanksgiving, said Shovlin, is the perfect time to show gratitude for the service and sacrifice of veterans and the troops serving abroad. Making cards and writing notes of thanks seemed like a great idea to Shovlin, who shared her idea with Aarsheim as an activity in which the entire class could participate.

"I thought it was a wonderful idea," said Aarsheim. "To give thanks ... For the little kids to understand that, I think is important."

Shovlin and Aarsheim asked students' parents to donate snacks, toiletries, and other useful items to create care packages to send along with the thank you cards. Shovlin said the response was great indeed. She decided she would attempt to locate some local soldiers to whom she could address the cards and the care packages to bring the project a little closer to home for the students and the recipients.

Facebook Fun Friday

Each week we give you a chance to win great stuff on our Facebook page. Check us out at www.facebook.com/wanderer and keep an eye out for the Friday post each week.

Congratulations to:

who won last week's Facebook Fun Friday!

This week we'll have a a Gift Card to Dunkin' Donuts!

"And Jenn [Aarsheim] was able to find a friend whose son just came back from Afghanistan," said Shovlin. He was able to provide a name of a fellow soldier and friend who was still serving there.

Thanksgiving, said Shovlin, is a time of year when one is reminded to give thanks, which makes the thank you letters and care packages more meaningful in general.

"We're using this as a way to thank, as opposed to consumerism," said Shovlin. "And kids like making cards, so this is good."

First-grader Emily Brzezinski drew a large card with hearts, sunshine, and a picture of herself, smiling, standing upon green grass. Her card read, "Thank you for ceping are cunchere [sic] safe."

Blake Moreau was enthusiastically penning his message to Koch, writing, "Thank you for serving our country..."

"Thank you for being brave and protecting our country," wrote Sasha V., signing it with love.

After finishing their cards and gathering the contents for the care packages, the students joined together to feast on some Thanksgiving treats, such as nuts, raisins, fruits, and of course, brightly covered turkey cupcakes.

Black Friday – once just referred to as 'the day after Thanksgiving' – promises door-smashing deals (sometimes literally) at 'big box' retail stores across the country, year after year. And what says "I love you" more than smashing a face or two at a superstore to get your loved one a cheap blender or electronic device for the holidays?

Yes, if you have grown somnolent of this annual chaotic consumerism, you might just stay home on Black Friday, make a list of the local shops you plan to visit the following day on "Small Business Saturday," give up the 5:00 am line-up at the superstore, and avoid the scene entirely – at least for one day.

Small Business Saturday is about "shopping small," and it is aimed at promoting holiday shopping at locally-owned businesses in your community as opposed to the national chain stores.

These are the stores that are owned and operated by your neighbors, who donate to the school events that benefit Tri-Town children, sponsor the local Little League teams, and support community charity events that benefit us all.

This November 29 is the 5th Annual Small Business Saturday, which was first established in 2010 by American Express as a way to celebrate local small businesses. By shopping local, you support your local economy and the "mom and pop" stores that are a vital part of the character of each of the three towns of Tri-Town.

The Better Business Bureau, which is stepping up efforts to get the word out on Small Business Saturday, encourages everyone to stay local, shop small, have fun shopping in their own community, and make Small Business Saturday part of everyone's holiday tradition.

Local boutiques might not be able to offer those door-busting deals like the big stores, but what they can offer are unique, thoughtful, or handmade gifts that are almost always appreciated more than the mass-produced items at large chain stores. Sure, there is a use for those items, but pledging to shop small on Saturday and reserving at least part of your holiday shopping for small local businesses is a way of giving on a much larger scale – by giving back to the community and its people who often struggle as small business owners and rely on holiday sales.

This Saturday, head out to your local stores on Small Business Saturday on November 29, enjoy bumping into neighbors and friends, and feel connected to your community when you purchase something special, for someone special, in a store that helps make your community special.

ORRJHS Brings Early Thanksgiving to Seniors

By Jean Perry

The Old Rochester Regional Junior High School students and staff who volunteered their time over the weekend to put on a Thanksgiving banquet for the senior citizens of Tri-Town knew what they were doing, considering that this was the 24th year the school offered the special Sunday Thanksgiving event.

When Superintendent of Schools Doug White addressed the full cafeteria of guests, he asked how many had ever attended the event before, and most raised their hands. Those whose first time was this past November 23 only needed to follow their noses down the long corridors leading to the cafeteria to know where to go.

This was White's fifth year attending the event, and he thanked the Mattapoissett Police Association for their generous contributions year after year to help the school fund the event. White also thanked the senior citizens of Tri-Town and the volunteers.

Lines of eight-graders dressed in black and white served steaming plates of turkey and gravy to the guests at the tables.

The food service staff – volunteering their own time to make the turkey dinners for the seniors – were in the kitchen cooking away and keeping it fun as they laughed together and smiled while scooping servings of stuffing and mashed potatoes for the student volunteers to carry off.

"This is a great testament to the junior high school," said ORR Junior High School Principal Kevin Brogioli, commending the students and staff for the time they gave to decorate the cafeteria and for the cooking, serving, greeting, and cleaning-up after the event.

Some volunteers even delivered turkey dinners to senior citizens who could not attend the banquet so that

Awards and Thanks to Town Workers

Mattapoissett Board of Selectmen

By Marilou Newell

Timing could not have been more apropos as the Mattapoissett Board of Selectmen expressed their gratitude to Water and Sewer Superintendent Nick Nicholson and Highway Department Superintendent Barry Denham at the November 25 meeting.

Not only did they thank Nicholson and his department, they also read from an award letter he received from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts on his exceptional work in providing the public with clean drinking water.

Chairman Paul Silva read the letter from the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection that noted Nicholson's exceptional efforts in preserving a safe drinking water supply for the town that exceeded the state's standards and secured top scores for Mattapoissett. Nicholson also received a citation from Governor Deval Patrick that further acknowledged Nicholson's accomplishments in this area.

As Silva concurred with the State's meritorious awards to Nicholson, he also thanked him on behalf of the resident of the town.

Nicholson shared the limelight, saying he was proud to receive this award for the second time and said many others work diligently with him behind the scene.

Silva said that about six years ago, the Town built a water plant that services Marion and Fairhaven. Water from wells throughout the water district is pumped to the plant where impurities are treated or removed. Nicholson's management of that facility was lauded.

Selectman Tyler Macallister inquired of Nicholson the status of the state-imposed water restrictions. Nicholson said he should have something to report within the next two weeks.

Denham's work with his team at the Highway Department also received words of thanks from Selectman Jordan Collyer.

Collyer said he has heard nothing but good things from residents regarding work done by the Highway Department over the summer months, including keeping the town looking clean and tidy, and the polite character of the workers when they interface with the public.

Denham accepted those kind words on behalf of his crew.

"They are a good bunch," said Denham. "We are lucky."

Macallister also recognized Denham for his work in helping to give the town a grand Veteran's Day ceremony.

On a topic that was much less cheery, Denham brought the board up to speed on the Acushnet Road closure and associated Tinkham Pond culvert disaster.

Denham said that all temporary repair options were impossible, given that the state required them to be fully engineered and designed. He told the board that the winter season would impair working in the elements, and in the end, the only reasonable course of action was a complete repair in the spring.

He expressed compassion for those who are now forced to use a detour but said, "We knew we had to do [work on the culvert], but didn't think it was as bad as it really was ... it had gone too far."

Only after an underwater survey of the area by the Massachusetts Department of Transportation was completed did the full extent of the culvert collapse become an emergency.

Silva said there was money in the budget for some of the repair work that will be started in spring 2015 and Denham added that Chapter 90 monies would also be available.

On the topic of tree trimming on private roads, Denham wanted to remind the public that the Town is not responsible for trimming trees on private roadways.

Earlier in the evening, the selectmen, along with Mattapoisett School Committee Chairman Jim Higgins and Town Moderator John Eckland, interviewed prospective Finance Committee member, Marie Bacon.

Bacon has participated on other boards and committees in the past and was now stepping forward to help on FinCom. When asked about her qualifications, she said has an MBA and handles budgets for the health care facility where she is employed.

The board moved to appoint Bacon.

And in the category of "we'll have a tree lighting if we can find a tree," Denham and Secretary to the Board of Selectmen Melody Pacheco are trying to find a tree for Shipyard Park. They urged the public to come forward if they have a tree to donate. If a tree is secured in time, the annual tree lighting will be held on Saturday, December 13 from 3:00 to 5:00 pm.

The winter farmer's market will be held on Saturday, December 13 in the ORRJHS gym between 10:00 am and 1:00 pm. Santa and Mrs. Claus are expected to

Marathon Hearing for Angry Abutters

Mattapoisett Zoning Board of Appeals

By Marilou Newell

The evening of November 20 started out tame enough, but once the continuance of issues resulting from a conflict between James Henderson and several abutters resumed, the hearing seemed as difficult to untangle as balled-up fishing lines.

During a prior Mattapoisett Zoning Board of Appeals hearing, James Henderson, 16 Bay View, asserted he had a verbal contract with Scott Snow – the developer of three adjacent lots – that would have protected him from harm when Snow and his partners undertook construction.

But that was years ago.

Since that time, Henderson and Snow have been at loggerheads on several matters, resulting in Henderson coming before the ZBA to air grievances and to try to get the Town to act on his behalf.

As far back as 2007, Snow and Henderson met to discuss the work Snow proposed to do on the Grandview lots – work that would include building a sea wall and bringing in fill to elevate the lots to meet FEMA requirements for residential housing in a flood zone. A building permit was issued to Snow, and Henderson did not object.

Henderson asserted, and Snow confirmed, that specific drainage work, which would have assured that the construction nearby would not have a negative impact on his parcel, was to have been completed on the Henderson property. That work was never completed.

Snow says it is because Henderson would not allow his team on the premises to do the necessary construction. Henderson says it is because Snow breached verbal agreements by not doing the work as planned and permitted by the Town.

Henderson contended that he never received notification from the Town of Snow's permit to build a home and, that being the case, he was within his right to ask the ZBA to hear his after-the-fact concerns.

Attorney Stanford Matathia, representing Henderson, Attorney Shepard Johnson, representing Snow, and Mattapoisett's Town Counsel Jonathan Silverstein were all in attendance to provide clarity on the issues as viewed by their respective clients.

Matathia provided evidence centered around stormwater runoff onto the Henderson property and contaminated fill transported to the Grandview Avenue lots by Snow. In addition, he noted that the building inspector had not pursued a zoning enforcement against Snow because the home Snow built, asserted Henderson, was larger than the home that was permitted.

Furthermore, Matathia said a variance, rather than a special permit, for the fill and building of a sea wall should have been necessary and there was a lack of proper notification to Henderson.

Matathia also attempted to show that a merger of lots had been granted by the ZBA in order for the residence to meet certain zoning requirements at the time the permit was applied for, and therefore, the building inspector had incorrectly identified one of the three lots as

CANINE DIARRHEA

My dog has had diarrhea more than once a week for the past month. He eats dog chow and table scraps. Occasionally there is blood in the stool and he can't always control himself and messes indoors. What can I do?

The key to controlling illness is getting a correct diagnosis and then treating the problem appropriately. First, have your veterinarian examine a stool specimen to check for intestinal parasites. Stop feeding your dog table scraps. If no parasites are found and stopping the table scraps does not resolve the problem, try changing the diet. Eucanuba brand dog foods are often helpful in resolving intestinal upsets in dogs.

What if the problem continues?

If you have done the 3 steps described above and the dog still has diarrhea, it is time to have your veterinarian evaluate the dog and possibly perform additional tests in order to obtain a diagnosis. This is especially important if your dog lacks his normal energy level, is losing weight or has an uncharacteristically poor appetite.

Johnson gave evidence that Snow made numerous attempts over the years to try and satisfy Henderson to complete promised land contouring work on his property – all to no avail. He also said that the house constructed not only complied with the permit, but that Town departments had signed off on the structure.

As for the contaminated fill, Johnson said there was a question as to whether the soils were of poor quality when transported to the site, or if demolished structures at the site had fouled the surrounding area.

Johnson also said the Town had never approached his client about subsequent remediation requiring the removal of asbestos from ditches dug by the Water and Sewer Department during the installation of sewer systems. He also gave evidence that the lots were individually owned and had not been merged.

ZBA Chairman Susan Akin, along with ZBA members Norman Lyonnais, Ken Pacheco and Eugene DesLanders, waded through permits, plans, photographic evidence, and nearly two and a half hours of verbal testimony from all three lawyers present.

Several times throughout the proceedings, the ZBA members seemed overwhelmed by the sheer volume of information that was being presented while pondering aloud their jurisdictional duties.

"We do buildings," stated Akin at one point. "That's what we do." She said this in response to facing the volume of details of stormwater runoff, wave action, and poor drainage problems.

Lyonnaise, who was visibly frustrated, stated, "After [an application] leaves us, we go home to our families!"

But Matathia pointed out to the board members that their role was not only to grant special permits and variances, but to act in the role of the appellate body to enforce the permits and variances they grant. Akin turned to Silverstein for guidance.

Silverstein advised the ZBA to take each matter being raised one by one, and make a decision on each, because it was clear to him that Henderson and Snow, et al. would be heading to court. If that should come to pass, Silverstein said, the ZBA should have decisions that would be reflected in documents presented by each side to a judge.

And so they did.

To the issue of Henderson's after-the-fact appeal, the ZBA voted that the time had passed and therefore he could not pursue a cease-and-desist order against Snow through them; his appeal was untimely, they said.

To the matter of a special permit versus a variance, the board agreed that a variance was not necessary because fill and the construction of a sea wall were on the plans that had been approved, negating the need for the applicant to request a variance.

The ZBA members were in agreement with the building inspector that a zoning enforcement was not appropriate and that the house constructed had met the plans submitted.

The board also believed that no merger of lots had been requested or granted at the time the building permit was granted.

Earlier in the evening, the ZBA quickly heard and approved: Special Permit to Ed Calder, 406 Church Street, for the construction of an addition; Special Permit to James McQuade, 0 Harbor Road, for the construction of a single-family dwelling; and Special Permit to Peter Noyer, 94 Marion Road, for the construction of an apartment over an existing garage.

The next meeting of the Mattapoissett Zoning Board of Appeals is planned for December 18 at 6:00 pm.

Board Reaching Out for Residents' Input

Marion Planning Board Master Plan Subcommittee

By Jean Perry

Whether you are concerned about zoning bylaws, preserving the character of the town, open space, or natural and historical resources, the Marion Planning Board Master Plan Subcommittee needs your input on what to prioritize for the next ten years. It wants to know how you envision the Town of Marion so it can develop a 2015 Master Plan to bring Marion forward into the future.

Two subcommittee members and one Planning Board member tossed around some ideas for reaching out to the townspeople for their participation in the Master Plan development during a midday November 20 meeting.

Post cards, surveys mailed with tax bills, and media advertising – the subcommittee will look toward anything to grab the public's attention and interest them in attending Master Plan workshops with the Planning Board and engage them in conversation about their town.

"This is the only way you're going to get people to buy into your master plan ... To get everybody's input," said Planning Board member Eileen Marum to fellow board members Rico Ferrari and Norman Hills during a discussion that focused on organizing workshops to engage the public in the Master Plan conversation.

One idea was to divide the town into several sections and invite them to attend Master Plan meetings to address the concerns of each part of town.

"The more input we get, the better it is," said Ferrari. "If nobody shows up..." Well, at least they had the experience of trying, added Ferrari.

One of the functions of the subcommittee is to attempt to draft a bylaw to place restrictions on formula businesses – business establishments under common control or franchises – to preserve the character of the town.

There is already one citizen petition spearheaded by former Planning Board member, and Master Plan Subcommittee member not in attendance that day, Ted North. Planning Board members determined on November 17 that the bylaw proposed in the citizen petition was not going address all the issues a robust bylaw would require.

The Planning Board could consider refraining from recommending the bylaw, or others submitted as citizen petitions, and instead devise its own to place as an article at the Annual Town Meeting in May. Hills commented that the board could take North's, as well as a tentative citizen petition Marum herself considered submitting, and use the best ideas from each to craft one bylaw.

"I'd like to think that's what would actually happen," said Hills. "But once it becomes a [citizen] petition, it's got to move forward to Town Meeting floor."

The discussion also covered several Planning Board items that would appear on the Town Meeting Warrant in May, including a request for funding of the Master Plan and the hiring of a part-time town planner as a consultant on the project. In addition to a formula business zoning bylaw, the board would like to address "abandonment and blight" of businesses in the form of another bylaw.

Town Call conference room during the November 24 meeting of the Mattapoisett Conservation Commission. They had come to hear Highway Superintendent Barry Denham and Robert Field of Field Engineering give an update on the plans for repairs to Acushnet Road and the culvert. What they heard did not make them feel thankful or jolly.

Denham reiterated information he had previously shared with the Planning Board (see the November 13 issue of The Wanderer), details that included the disastrous condition of the culvert and headwalls that support the roadway.

The Massachusetts Department of Transportation regulations require that even temporary repair work had to include guardrails and handrails, and the need for concrete curing that would not be feasible given the advancing winter season and closure of asphalt plants.

Field said that they are awaiting the final Chapter 85 review and report from the DOT, and once that was in hand, they would have a better idea of construction timing.

But no matter how the information was sliced, it all came down to a June 2015 reopening if all goes well.

Those in attendance wanted to vent their displeasure on Denham. Linda Francis of 5 Bridle Path angrily asked, "Why didn't we do something before it got this bad ... what about the safety of people...!" She cited that Fairhaven's Fire Department covers that section of Acushnet Road during a fire incident but now their services, if used at all, will be severely delayed.

Chairman Bob Rogers cautioned the crowd not to heap their frustration on Denham saying, "Barry is trying to do the best he can ... no one likes the situation."

Denham described his efforts at trying to come up with a viable temporary fix so that the road could reopen before the spring construction season, at which time the complete repair could be done. However, the State's mandates made even the simplest plan impossible.

"The cleanest thing to do," said Denham, "is get the culvert cleaned up and repair the road," versus a temporary plan and then closing the road again at a future date.

Residents voiced their dismay, saying it was costing them extra time and money spent on extra gas with the detour that is now in place.

"We know we'll be waiting for the next construction season," stated Denham. That brought a collective groan from those who had hoped for something more positive.

Denham proposes to deploy the Highway Department to the site and begin the excavation work on the roadway and culvert area in advance of the spring repair. He said it would save the Town money by using its own employees instead of subcontracting out the entire job.

Conservation Commission member Mike King suggested that residents contact Representative William Strauss, who sits on the Transportation Committee, as a means to try and get some relief sooner rather than later, or at the very least channel their concerns.

In the meantime, Field and Denham will continue to await the final design plan from the DOT. Once that is in hand, Rogers told them to return with a Notice of Intent application.

Also on the evening's agenda was a meeting with Daniel Eilertsen, 20 Water Street, requesting guidance on the inclusion of a stone wall on the easterly side of his lot that would have a north/south profile. He was told to apply for a Request for Determination Applicability.

came before the commission with updated information on the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection mandate that stormwater runoff be calculated to newer standards than originally done at the time of their application.

Those standards, which he described as evolving, require that the impervious spaces be combined on the site for the purposes of determining stormwater discharge rates.

Rogers said ConCom needed a letter from the DEP for the file that stipulates why the drainage had to be recalculated, or have the Town's engineer, Gary James, review the DEP report and the recalibrated discharge report.

The hearing was continued until December 8, when at that time, if provided with the documentation, the commission will be able to give the applicant an Amended Order of Conditions.

Rogers said the commission had received notification that the DEP appeal for the DaRosa pier project on Goodspeed Island was scheduled on the property in question on December 4. It is a public meeting in as much as the attendance of three or more ConCom members requires the meeting to be open. However, member Peter Newton made it clear that since the meeting is on private property, the general public is not really allowed to attend.

Environmental Agent Elizabeth Leidhold reported that a Chapter 61 conference will be held on March 5 at 7:00 pm in the Mattapoisett Free Public Library, and that various Town boards and departments have been invited to attend this informational session. The meeting is open to the public. Chapter 61 of the State's general laws governs the classification of forestlands and the associated tax structure allowed by cities and towns.

The next meeting of the Mattapoisett Conservation Commission is scheduled for December 8 at 6:30 pm in the Town Hall conference room.

Influential ORR Science Teacher Retires

ORR Update

By Patrick Briand

When students return from Thanksgiving break, the Old Rochester Regional High School Science Department will look and feel a little different.

Longtime science teacher Mary Cabral will be retiring after teaching at Old Rochester for over 15 years. Her last day is Tuesday, November 25, and she recently described her time spent as a teacher and what she plans to do in her retirement.

Cabral has been teaching for over 25 years. In addition to her time at ORR, she also taught at Wareham High School.

"I took off some time, about ten years, to raise my children," said Cabral. "I also taught two years at

Throughout her career, Cabral has taught a wide variety of science subjects.

"I've taught so many different things, including Biology, but mostly I've taught Human Anatomy and Physiology." During all three of her teaching jobs, Cabral has taught that subject.

"As much as I love teaching, it was time to give a younger teacher the opportunity," said Cabral about retiring. She expressed a desire to travel with her husband, and said they have already planned trips to Mexico and California, as well as a cruise.

However, Cabral is not closing the door on working entirely.

"Who knows, there might be another career out there for me," Cabral said. "I'm open."

Reflecting on her time at Old Rochester Regional, Cabral said that her greatest accomplishments were the contributions she made in terms of adding to the science curriculum.

Upon beginning at the local high school, she wrote the course outline and curriculum for the human anatomy class, which had previously not been offered.

"I would hope to think that I increased course offerings in the Science Department," said Cabral, "and in turn, increased the interest in science for the students of Old Rochester."

Also on Mrs. Cabral's mind before her departure are the relationships she has developed with both teachers and students over her time at ORR.

"Some of my most important memories are with my colleagues, time spent collaborating, and the students I've met while teaching," said Cabral.

It's clear that Mrs. Cabral has had a huge impact on ORR, especially in the way the Science Department has developed. Her contributions, particularly in the field of Anatomy and Physiology, will be recognized long after she leaves her teaching position. Here's to wishing her the best in retirement!

Leadership Day

Tabor Academy News

By Julia O'Rourke

On Tuesday, November 18, the entire Tabor community worked together on defining and refining student leadership at Tabor at the 2nd Annual Graboys Leadership Symposium.

The Symposium, which varies from year to year, begins with proposals from some of the faculty, who come up with their plan and concept for the day. After one is selected, the organizer begins working with Lois and George Graboys, graduates of the 1950 school year, to plan the dynamic event.

Richard DaSilva ('89), a history teacher at Tabor, organized this year's program.

The theme DaSilva chose was "Leadership Starts

DaSilva hoped to "complement" Chris Millette's "future-based" program from last year, which highlighted how Tabor leadership opportunities can shape the future.

Millette's program included a number of featured speakers, including Jack Clark, the rugby coach at The University of California, Berkeley, and allowed students to gain a valuable understanding of what leadership is and its importance.

DaSilva worked with the Graboyeses, whose children established the annual event as a gift for their parents last year to honor their dedication to leadership.

"They helped me shape what the day was going to be," says DaSilva of their meetings throughout the planning process. "They knew that my day was a little different and they were open to the new ways that I wanted to get things across."

DaSilva planned this day as one "for students and about students," and five recent Tabor graduates came to speak about their time at Tabor and the leadership positions that they held and valued.

Students were then split up into a number of specific groups to evaluate and create plans of action for different types of leadership at Tabor.

The leadership topics were Residential, Academic, Athletic, Diversity, Community Service, International, Global Service, Student Affairs/Class Offices, Alumni Development and the Mission Statement. This covered all areas of the school and at the end of the day, students shared the different proposals that they came up with during their smaller sessions.

DaSilva called this sharing period "the best part of the day" because he was blown away by "the volume of what they came up with."

During the brainstorming period, faculty left students to develop their own proposals. Student ideas ranged from an international café, to sharing global news, to a student athletic committee, and to improve school spirit and team dynamics.

"Every group found a challenge and every group found a solution," DaSilva said of the workshop component of the day. But he believes that many students already had these ideas and finally had a platform in which to discuss them productively.

Faculty and students alike are already taking action to implement these new ideas that came from the student proposals. The Tabor community is already looking forward to seeing these ideas come alive.

"The community met and exceeded what our expectations were," said DaSilva of the success of this year's symposium.

Next year's symposium is expected to be unique and different from the preceding years, but will likely once again highlight the importance and value of leadership opportunities at Tabor.

Moncino Signs with Miami University, Ohio

On November 13, the second day of the NCAA's early signing period, Harrison Moncino of Pace Academy in Atlanta, Ga., signed a National Letter of Intent and committed to join Miami University of Ohio's diving team.

Moncino is a lifelong summer resident of Antassawacmock in Mattapoisett, and was a camper and counselor in training at Tabor Academy. He is the son of Dr. Mark Moncino and Dr. Kathy Sheerin (Bishop Stang Class of 1975), and the grandson of James Sheerin of Mattapoisett and Rita Sheerin of Fairhaven.

Moncino, a three-time All-American, has rewritten Pace Academy record books during his tenure on the varsity diving squad. He was state runner-up in 2012 and brought home state-championship medals in 2013 and 2014. Moncino also dives with the Atlanta Diving Association at Georgia Tech, and has participated in the program for 13 years. In 2014, Moncino finished first in the Greater Atlanta Diving League Championships as well as the USA Diving Summer Junior Region 7 Championships.

Moncino has competed on the national level for seven years, most recently placing 24th among 16-18 year-old boys in the one-meter competition at the USA Diving's 2014 Junior National Diving Championships. He was 25th in the three-meter competition.

"Harrison Moncino has had a brilliant career at Pace," says Pace Academy coach John Ague. "He's a three-time MVP and a leader in both our swimming and diving programs. I'm very excited to follow his college career. I think he made a great choice!"

Moncino won Pace Academy's Mike Murphy Courage to Strive for Excellence Award as a freshman, received the Wheeler Scholar Athlete Award in the 10th grade and was recognized with Pace Academy's Lance and Shield Award his junior year. Outside of the pool, Moncino plays the clarinet in the Pace Academy band, is drum major for the pep band and is a member of the National Honor Society. He has served as a dive coach at The Branches Club in Dunwoody, Ga., for the past two summers.

Moncino continues a long tradition of strong student-athletes at Pace Academy. Seven of 107 members of the Pace Academy Class of 2014 currently participate in college athletics, and two play professional baseball.

It Happened on Fifth Avenue

On Friday, December 5 at 7:00 pm, the public is invited to the Marion Music Hall for the month's Classic Film Friday Presentation: It Happened on Fifth Avenue. The event is co-sponsored by the Sippican Historical Society and the Marion Council on Aging, and is offered to the public, free of charge. Directed by Roy Del Ruth and starring Victor Moore, Ann Harding, Don DeFore, Charles Ruggles and Gale Storm, this little-known 1947 gem received an Academy Award nomination for Best Writing, Original Story (but lost to another holiday-themed classic, Miracle on 34th Street).

A heartwarming comedy set in New York City, it tells the tale of Aloysius T. McKeever, a genial homeless man whose clever resourcefulness has sustained him for years. Each winter, when millionaire-businessman Michael J. O'Connor vacates his Fifth Avenue mansion until springtime, Aloysius moves in and lives like a king until O'Connor's return. Aloysius usually operates alone, but this time out he takes in an unplanned assortment of other downtrodden guests, who soon turn the O'Connor mansion into a fancy flophouse. When O'Connor's rebellious daughter, Trudy, comes home unannounced without revealing her true identity, complications arise. Running time for It Happened on Fifth Avenue is 116 minutes, and the film will be followed by a brief talk-back session by David Pierce. The Marion Music Hall is located at 164 Front Street, and ample parking is available across the street at Island Wharf. For more information, contact the SHS at 508-748-1116.

A Festival of Lessons & Carols

Tabor Academy invites the public to come and celebrate the spirit of the season with them in Wickenden Chapel on December 14 at 7:30 pm as Tabor choristers hold their traditional carol service. The public is invited to this free event that is sure to instill the holiday spirit in all.

This year, Tabor students will perform an original composition by their conductor and organist, David Horne, entitled, "Gloria caritas, pax et amor." It was composed this fall for Tabor choral groups and sets the entire text of the Gloria to music in nine separate pieces. The Chamber Choirs, Madrigal Singers and soloists all will have their part in this work.

Horne explained, "What I have tried to do with the Gloria is evoke the universal themes of rebirth: of light from dark, order from chaos, and hope of peace on Earth to all people of good will. The story reminds us that the way to peace is not from the application of the precepts of any particular religion, but rather from the reminder not to let 'careless thought, action or deed divide us and let us love one another with sincere hearts.' This is the message of the benediction to the Gloria that the Tabor Tones and Men's Chamber Choir sing at the very end and effectively sums up the meaning of the service."

Save the date! The annual Holiday House Tour will be held from 10:00 am until 4:00 pm on Saturday, December 13 when five Marion homeowners will open their homes to the tour. The theme this year is 'White Christmas, With a Sparkle'.

Tickets are $20 in advance and $25 on Tour Day. Advance tickets can be purchased in Marion at the General Store, The Bookstall and Serendipity by the Sea and in Mattapoisett at Isabelle's in the Ropewalk or by mail: send a check for the total amount to Tickets, Sippican Woman's Club, P.O. Box 121, Marion, MA 02738. On Tour Day, retrieve your 'Will Call' Tour brochures at the Coldwell Banker Realty office in Handy's Tavern at 152 Front Street, Marion, MA. the Christmas season early this week by decorating at three mansions in Newport, Rhode Island. The Historic Landscapes & Horticulture of The Preservation Society of Newport County enlists volunteers to help decorate the mansions for the holidays and thanks to Sue Mitchell, who contacted Jim Donahue, Curator of the Society, we were one of several groups to help with this massive undertaking. We had a blast for a few hours taking part in a "behind-the-scenes" activity guided by Jim Donahue at our assigned tasks and mansions. Elaine Botelho, Erin Burlinson, Susan Lockwood, Kathy McAuliffe, Mary O'Keefe and Barb Van Inwegen unpacked beautiful ornaments, climbed ladders, hung red balls, pear-, tear-, onion-shaped, silver acorns, and red garland on two tall trees in the Great Hall at the Breakers. Roxanne Bungert and Bobbie Ketchel decorated bedroom mantels at the Marble House. Susan Perkins and Kathleen Damaskos decorated the staircase and a bedroom Christmas tree at the Elms. Sue Mitchell decorated a Christmas tree at the Elms.

Where will we volunteer next? Join us for our next meeting and get involved!

The Mattapoisett Woman's Club Christmas luncheon will be held Thursday, December 11 at 11:30 am at The Congregational Church in Reynard Hall. Our program features Michelle Gordon at the piano. The luncheon will be catered; the cost is $20. The deadline for reservations is December 5. If you would like to join us, please contact Barb at 508 864-5213.

The New Year will begin with our January 15 meeting at noon. Our speaker will be Gerry Rooney who will discuss the Whitfield-Manjiro story – in 1841 a boat, a 14-year old boy, a storm, a shipwreck on an island, a rescue by a whaling ship from New Bedford. Pique your interest? Please join us.

Mites: The Gateway Mites C team tied the South Coast Panthers 9-9 in a nail biter on Saturday. The Panthers got on the board in the opening minute. Gateway then turned the jets on and began peppering their goalie with several shots and was able to take the lead by the end of the first period. The Panthers came out flying in the second period and with three minutes to go, Gateway was down by three goals. The Mites pushed hard the rest of the game and with about a minute to play were able to tie the game. However, the resilient Panthers were able to score with 36 seconds left and it seemed the game would end that way. But with 16 seconds left, Pat Tripp tied the game with a great pass by Ben Hebbel. Gateway was also able to get a good scoring attempt with six seconds left, but they were denied. Gateway proved, as always, that they never give up until the final buzzer. Tripp and Brayden Cannon each had a hat trick. Hebbel ended the night with two goals and an assist. Jarrold Frates also had a goal and Bree Killion had an assist. Charlie Carroll had another strong outing with 30 saves.

Squirts: Gateway Squirts held their undefeated status after a win 4-0 versus Franklin on Sunday. The team seemed a little sluggish in the beginning but soon found their pace. In the first period, Nathan Ribeiro put Gateway on the board assisted by Osvaldo (Juni) Suarez and Matthew Paling. In the second period, they picked up the speed and team work scoring three goals credited to Paling, Suarez assisted by Thomas Leger, and Joe Urnek with assists from Ty Ribeiro and Brady Kidney. Defense played a good game, giving forwards multiple chances to get the puck down the ice. Squirts play next Sunday.

K of C Teen Dances

All of the Teen Dances held at the Knights Hall are sponsored and run by the Knights of Columbus, Damien Council. As a preventive measure – not because of any problems – a uniformed police detail officer is hired for each dance. Several Knights and Ladies Auxiliary members chaperone each dance. Once a teen has entered the Knights Hall, they are not allowed to leave the building unless being picked up by a parent or guardian. As always, Disc Jockey Jason Mello provides the music. Mr. Mello is a member of the Knights of Columbus.

The Knights want 6th, 7th and 8th graders to have a fun and safe environment to socialize and dance on scheduled Friday evenings. We invite any parent who wants to see what the dances are all about to visit a dance. Please stop in when you drop your child off, introduce yourself to the chaperones, and take a look around so you know how your child will be spending the evening.

Mattapoisett Library Helps Kids Cozy Up

Add a little joy to someone's life this season when you go shopping! Library patrons in Mattapoisett are helping the children of women served by The Women's Center to stay warm and entertained this winter. Everyone is encouraged to bring in new pajamas for babies and children along with a new book for the children to read. Each month the PJs and books will be brought to The Women's Center for distribution by the Center's staff. The identities of the families will remain confidential.

Decorated boxes to receive the donations are in the children's department and upstairs near the adult circulation desk. Any size new pajamas for boys or girls are welcome. A clothesline is being hung in the mezzanine to show off some of the fun PJs and to remind patrons of "the pajama drive."

"We already have a few donations and we're just getting started. The entire staff is excited about this project to benefit women and children served by The Women's Center. What better gift for a child this winter than a cozy pair of PJs and a new book?" stated Library Director Susan Pizzolato.

The pajama and book drive will continue throughout the winter to benefit families who seek help at The Women's Center. For more information, please call the library at 508-758-4171. For information about The Women's Center, please call 508-996-3343, or visit the

MOVIE REVIEW

Absolute Genius

By Rob Gonsalves
www.robsmovievault.com

The Theory of Everything*. Starring Eddie Redmayne and Felicity Jones. Directed by James Marsh. Running time: 122 minutes. MPAA rating: PG-13.

Pop culture has its way of gentling great minds for the masses. To paraphrase Us magazine's popular and frequently mocked feature: "Scientists -- they're just like us!" Those eggheads want, lust, love, and consume the same as any regular jerk. I imagine it's one of the secrets of The Big Bang Theory's success: the characters may look to the stars, and even escape to them at times, but mostly they're mired in grungy physical Earth. The nice thing about The Theory of Everything, which serves up a touching account of the love life of Stephen Hawking, is that Hawking's cosmological curiosity seems to issue from the same place that likes booze and girls. We meet him, after all, as a gawky college student encountering his future wife Jane for the first time. Soon enough, Hawking will be as grounded as a human can be.

As Hawking, Eddie Redmayne stubbornly refuses to solicit our pity even as Hawking's affliction, a motor neuron disease, erases his ability to walk and then to talk. Redmayne conveys some of the horror of a mind that faces being closed off from communication. But mainly he is astringent and witty, a brain too active to be distracted by mundane physicality for very long, because he has bigger fish to fry -- you know, time and the origins of the universe. Redmayne's skill at replicating the ravages of Hawking's illness may threaten to overshadow Felicity Jones' delicate work as Jane, but it shouldn't; for a while, based as it is on the actual Jane's memoir, the movie becomes about Jane and her inner life, and Jones puts across why Jane was drawn to Hawking's intellectual gaiety and the toll his illness took on her despite her love.

Together, Hawking and Jane dramatize the Cartesian split: mind and body. A bitter irony of the movie is that Jane, pursuing her own academic career in literature, becomes essentially little more than a body: producing three children for Hawking, whose coital ability seems unaffected by his disease. The film sketches in Hawking's relationship with his nurse, for whom he left Jane in 1995 after thirty years of marriage, but doesn't tell us that he divorced the nurse, too, in 2006. The movie winds up saying that when you marry a scientist like Hawking, you take a back seat to what's in his head. It's a dynamic familiar from decades of absent-minded-professor entertainment, up to and including Sheldon and Amy on Big Bang Theory (where Hawking did a cameo, making Sheldon faint in shame over a math mistake). The Theory of Everything tries to soft-soap what should set it apart: the difficulties of being, and living with, a genius. The progressive, scene-stealing nature of Hawking's illness cloaks the probability that he would be hard to live with even if he were able-bodied.

Still, the acting lifts the highly fictionalized story out of the realm of banality and bromide. Moment to moment, what we're watching is the effort of two people to make things work, and this extends to the actors' struggle to make the characters' struggle fresh. Redmayne sneaks in the interesting sense that Hawking is spiritually and intellectually freed by his ailment -- that he literally becomes a brain in a jar, a very fragile one, and leaves the realities of dealing with his physicality to others. On the opposite end of the axis, Jones gives us a Jane who fears losing her mind, and though the movie short-shrifts Jane's own intellect except for a scene or two of her jotting down notes, Jones makes sure we understand what it was like to be a woman in the '60s, '70s and '80s, living in the shadow of an egghead titan who, liberal as he may have been in some areas, probably had no idea he was reducing his first love to a baby machine and unpaid nurse.

"Tidings of Comfort and Joy"

As it has for nearly five decades, the Sippican Choral Society of Marion ushers in the Christmas season in Southeastern Massachusetts with its annual Christmas concerts on Friday, December 5 at Grace Episcopal Church in New Bedford at 8:00 pm, and again on Sunday, December 7 at 4:00 pm in Tabor Academy's Wickenden Chapel in Marion.

The chorus will again be joined by the fabulous Sippican Children's Chorus under the direction of Leslie Piper, which will sing two of their own pieces, the German carol "Still, Still, Still" and the contemporary gospel spiritual "Go Where I Send Thee" by Caldwell and Ivory. They will also join the choral society on a number of selections.

If you want to bring comfort and joy into your life this Christmas, this concert is a wonderful place to start. The chorus will open the concert with the joyous Advent motet "Lift Up Your Heads, Ye Gates" by Andreas Hammerschmidt, followed by Haydn's "Qui Sedes," which is based on the first two verses of Psalm 80. The repertoire also will include some familiar Christmas music, such as "God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen" and "Tomorrow Shall Be My Dancing Day."

Comfort music will include a very unusual – and hauntingly beautiful – arrangement of "Lo, How a Rose" merged with Amanda McBroom's "The Rose." Chorus member Barbara Connulty will be the soloist for this

The Center School students in Jennifer Aarsheim's first grade class spent the afternoon on November 24 making thank you cards addressed to Sergeant Kasey Koch serving in Afghanistan, who is connected to some local troops who also served in Afghanistan. The show will include questions to the students on topics such as science, literature, history and other academic topics. piece.

In addition, a chamber choir, composed of about 20 chorus members, will sing three pieces.

As always, the audience will have the chance to sing along with the chorus on several familiar Christmas carols.

The following Monday evening, about 40 members of the chorus will sing selections from the concert at the Sippican Long Term Health Care Center in Marion.

Now in its 49th season, the 80-member Sippican Choral Society is under the direction of Mr. Brian Roderick, with Ms. Michelle Gordon of Mattapoissett as its accompanist. The group performs at least two concerts every year, singing the works of the world's great composers, as well as contemporary music.

Beginning with our spring concert in April, the chorus will be celebrating 50 years of providing classical and popular music to audiences along the South Coast. That concert will be a joint one with the Tri-County Symphonic Band, reminiscent of the chorus's very first concert in 1965 when it performed with the same symphonic band. Back then, with Shirley Cowell as the 35-member chorus's first President, Zavan Mazmanian was the first Music Director, and Thelma Ostenfeld was the accompanist. John Pandolfi directed the Tri-County Symphonic Band.

Tickets for this year's Christmas concert are $15

TriTOWN HAPPENINGS

Wednesday Nov. 19th, seven members of the Mattapoissett Woman's Club volunteered to help decorate for the holidays at the Breakers in Newport. We're standing in front of the two trees we decorated: Elaine Botelho, Sue Lockwood, Kathy McAuliffe (with a copy of the Wanderer), Mary O'Keefe, Barb Van Inwegen, Erin Burlinson, and Sue Mitchell.

Old Rochester Regional Junior High School eighth grade students and staff volunteered over the weekend to present the 24th annual Thanksgiving dinner for Tri-Town senior citizens on Sunday, November 23. Seniors of Mattapoissett, Marion, and Rochester were invited to a Thanksgiving feast in the cafeteria complete with turkey and all the traditional trimmings. Photos by Jean Perry

SALOME'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) While it seems that chaos is taking over, you get everything back to normal, even if it means being more than a little assertive with some people. Expect to hear more job-related news soon.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Expect to be able to move ahead with your workplace plans now that you have a good idea of what you might have to face. You also can anticipate a welcome change on the home front.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A quieter period settles in, giving you a chance to catch your breath, as well as allowing for more time to handle some important family matters. The arts dominate this weekend. Enjoy them.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) The frustrations of last week have pretty much played themselves out. You should find things going more smoothly, especially with those all-important personal matters.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Once again, you find a creative way to resolve a pesky problem in short order. However, a matter involving a possible breach of confidence might need a bit more time to check out.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Reuniting with an old friend could lead to the sharing of some great new experiences. But be careful you don't find yourself once again being super-critical or overly judgmental.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) You should be seeing some positive results following your move toward repairing that unraveling relationship. There might be some setbacks, but staying with it ultimately pays off.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Encouraging a friendlier environment in the home could go a long way to help dissipate anger and resolve problems, especially those affecting children. It won't be easy, but you can do it.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A recent act of kindness is beginning to show some unexpected (but very welcome) results. On another note, expect to hear more about a possible move to another locale.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) The good news is that the sure-footed Goat can rely on his or her skill to get around obstacles in the workplace. The not-so-good news is that new impediments could turn up later.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A change of pace is welcome but also confusing. Before you make decisions one way or another, be sure you know precisely what it is you're being asked to do.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Don't fret if you don't get the gratitude you think you're owed for doing a nice thing for someone. There might be a good reason for that. In any event, what's important is that you did it.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a way of making the sort of wise decisions that ultimately shed new light on dark situations.

Annual Moby-Dick Marathon is scheduled for January 2-4, 2015 and all those interested in reading are invited to contact the museum starting at 12:01 am on Tuesday, November 11. Call 508-717-6851 or email mdmarathon@whalingmuseum.org to request a 7-10 minute reading slot. Be sure to provide your full name and preferred reading time as well as two alternate times.

New this year! Children ages eight and older are invited to read excerpts from the abridged version of Moby-Dick. The Children's Mini-Marathon will take place on Saturday, January 3 from 3:00 - 6:00 pm and on Sunday, January 4 from 10:00 am to noon. It will occur concurrently with the annual reading. Children interested in participating should follow the same instructions listed above, but should specify the Children's Mini-Marathon in their request.

Every January, the world's largest whaling museum marks the anniversary of Herman Melville's 1841 whaling voyage from New Bedford with a 25-hour nonstop reading of America's greatest novel: Moby-Dick. The weekend includes three days of activities, January 2-3-4, 2015, including a ticketed buffet dinner and lecture on Friday evening.

A midwinter tradition, the marathon attracts hundreds of readers and listeners from around the world. The reading begins at noon on Saturday, January 3 and finishes at 1:00 pm on Sunday, January 4. Snow and cold will not stop this literary happening. Come at any time,

A POWERFUL PRAYER TO THE HOLY SPIRIT
Holy Spirit, you who solve all problems, who light all roads so I can attain my goals, you who give me the divine gifts to forgive and forget all evil against me, in this short prayer, to thank you for all things and confirm once again that I never want to be separated from you, even in spite of all material illusions. I wish to be with you in eternal glory, thank you for your mercy towards me and mine.
The person must say this prayer for three consecutive days. After three days, the favor requested will be granted, even if it may appear difficult. This prayer must be published immediately after the favor is granted without mentioning the favor. Only

system donated by an anonymous donor, as well as 150 comfortable, new chairs from a dual donation by an anonymous donor and the Sippican Historical Society. The Committee is deeply grateful for these wonderful contributions that will greatly enhance the comfort and enjoyment of audiences for the many civic and cultural activities held at the Music Hall.

For information on various programs held at the Music Hall by organizations such as the Sippican Historical Society, Elizabeth Taber Library and Marion Council on Aging, as well as other local venues, you can now consult the Town of Marion's Events calendar at http://www.marionma.gov/Pages/MarionMA\_Eventscal/.

Increased use of the Music Hall has led to more awareness of the maintenance issues it faces, and the Committee is very pleased to be working actively with the town's new Facilities Manager, Shaun Cormier, to ensure the long-term 'health' of this historic building. We look forward to honoring the vision of Elizabeth Taber when she built the Music Hall in 1891, as well as the generosity of another benefactress whose large donation in 1995 provided funds for a major renovation to the building as well as an endowment.

The focus now is on stabilizing the Hall's foundation, increasing handicap access, upgrading the kitchen, replacing the furnace, redoing the interior painting and floors, as well as furnishing the Reading Room. Excellent assistance from many local volunteers has proved invaluable, and the Committee welcomes any and all suggestions as the project moves forward.

Anyone who wishes to be involved in the Music Hall's improvement initiative is encouraged to contact Phyllis Washburn at myswan@verizon.net.
